Making their own trimmings for the Romulus Public Library Christmas tree Saturday afternoon, local children put great concentration into their work. Trimmings for the tree included paper chains and ornaments along with strings of popcorn and cranberries. After creating the decorations, the children worked together to display their work on the tree. Among the tree trimmers was Donna Lee (left), 10. ANP photos by Julie Spahr

Ground broken for $8 million Wick project

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

After nearly five years of planning, ground was broken Friday morning for the $8 million Wick Road improvement project.

The Wick Road project will literally pave the way for the Metro World Centre, planned for a 700-acre site near Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The development will contain hotels, office buildings, research facilities, apartment complexes and a college facility. The center will be developed by Llywd Ecclestone Jr. of Florida.

The Wick project was planned to facilitate the Metro World Centre and will be divided into two phases.

The first phase, now underway, will involve the paving and extension of Wick Road west of Wickham Road.

The road will extend 8,000 feet and will curve north between two lakes on the development site.

In addition, Smith Road will be extended as a boulevard west from Merriman Road to Vining Road, a distance of approximately 4,800 feet. At the intersection with Merriman, Smith will be widened.

Next, Vining Road will be built as a boulevard between Smith Road and Wick, approximately 2,600 feet. Eventually Vining will extend south of Wick and will connect to an interchange planned for I-94.

Also, Wickham Road will be widened to four lanes from the Days Inn parking lot to the intersection with Wick.

Other parts of the project include burying electric and telephone lines, installing new street lights, constructing sidewalks and planting trees.

The first phase also includes the construction of two of four ramps required for a Vining Road interchange to I-94. The interchange is still awaiting approval from the federal government.

To finance this project, city officials recently approved an $8-million bond issue. Money generated by new developments in the area will be used to refund the investment.

Present during the Wick project ground breaking was Congressman William Ford (D-Taylor).

"Romulus is a place that for many years we didn't have much hope for. Now, it's developing much faster than most communities in the county," Ford said.

Mayor Beverly McAnally said, "This is the end of one struggle and the beginning of a lot of exciting things for the community and the surrounding area."

Authority to appoint city employees becomes debate subject

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

City council chambers became tense Monday night when the power of the mayor and city council to appoint employees became a subject of debate.

The discussion was based on a recent decision by Mayor Beverly McAnally to terminate four city employees.

McAnally said she based her decision on a section of the city charter. It states all appointed city employees are terminated unless the mayor reappoints them by Dec. 10, she said.

Not reappointed were Mary Collins, council secretary; Debbie Dick, recreation director; Rita McLenon, purchasing agent; and Nancy McClain, co-director of the city finance department.

Conflict arose at the meeting when Councilmember Jimmie Raspberry asked council to force McAnally to keep Collins.

Raspberry said two state attorney general decisions unless the state city council has the power to appoint employees.

From that point, the argument focused on whether the mayor or the council can appoint a council secretary.

McAnally said the mayor has the power to appoint and not appoint.

"I exercised the prerogative given to me by the city charter," she said.

Contributing to the tension was debate over a proposal to obtain a decision on the issue from the city attorney's office. Raspberry and Councilmember Noah Bergeron opposed the suggestion.

"I have seen too many political decisions come out of that office," Bergeron said, provoking an angry response from McAnally.

She called his remark slanderous.

Later, Raspberry said he has obtained decisions from the state attorney general that have contradicted the city attorney.

"We're not getting clear signals as to what's what," he said.

The issue was not resolved. Council agreed to discuss it again at its Dec. 27 meeting.

Raspberry agreed to supply councilmembers with copies of the attorney general opinions he cited.

After the meeting, McAnally said the employee reduction was necessary.

"We're on hard financial times now," she said. "Everybody's got to be pulling their own weight and more."

The mayor said she plans to restructure the recreation and financing departments. The purchasing department will be merged with the accounts payable department.

As for the council secretary,

Convict will receive 'clean' criminal record

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Two years ago Darryl Johnson received an eight-to-15-year prison sentence for the stabbing death of a Romulus teen.

Last week, Johnson was placed on probation and received a promise of a clean criminal record after some maneuvering by court officials.

The 20-year-old Inkster man had been sentenced on a manslaughter conviction for the death of Romulus Senior High School student Robert O'Day.

Johnson was accused of stabbing O'Day in the chest.

He was released from prison last spring after the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled a mistrial in the case.

According to court records, tension between the judge and defense attorney prejudiced the jury.

Ultimately, the attorney was found in contempt of court. But instead of having a second trial, Johnson was sentenced to three years probation by Wayne County Circuit Judge James Rashid.

This program, Youthful Trainee Status, offers clean criminal records for those who complete it. The program is for first-time offenders between 17 and 20 years of age.

Although people convicted of murder or rape are not typically eligible to participate in the YTS program, Johnson's original charge of first-degree murder was reduced to manslaughter during his trial.

Robert Agacinski, Wayne County prosecutor, said he is surprised with the judge's decision.

"He (Rashid) concluded the man was reformed and sorry for what he had done. It's difficult to make a judgement call like that.

"We are reviewing the possibility of appealing. I don't think it (the judge's decision) is set in concrete yet."

An appeal would be based on two factors, Agacinski said.

First, it would claim Rashid simply used poor judgement based on emotional testimony from Johnson and prison counselors.

The appeal would also point out that the YTS program is for people who are between the ages of 17 and 20 upon arrest. Johnson was 16 when he was arrested in the O'Day case.

If the prosecutor's office does move forward with an appeal, it would probably begin the process this January, Agacinski said.

Meanwhile, this case has angered people in Romulus.

"I think he (Johnson) should have gone to trial again," said William Bedell, Romulus superintendent. "It should have gone to a jury. The judge should not have short-circuited the system."

Bedell described the behavior of Johnson's trial lawyer as irresponsible, claiming she incited the judge and threw off the trial. By choosing probation for Johnson instead of another trial, the judge condoned her actions, Bedell said. "How do you explain that to young people?"

Lawsuit on stabbing in school is settled

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A civil suit pitting the parents of slain high school student Robert O'Day against Romulus Community Schools recently was settled out of court.

Mary and Robert O'Day, Sr. blamed the district for allowing their son's attacker, Darryl Johnson of Inkster, to enter the high school.

The O'Days received $550,000 from the district insurance company, according to their attorney George Googasian.

Robert O'Day was killed in the winter of 1986. He was stabbed in the chest during a fistfight between members of the school wrestling team and three boys from Inkster.

The fight stemmed from an argument between two Romulus students the previous day, according to court records. One of these students told his cousin, Johnson, he was afraid of some boys at school, the records stated.

Johnson, then 16, and two other boys reportedly came to the high school the next day prepared for "a rumble."

They confronted the boy from the earlier argument, a wrestler, in front of a school locker room. Eventually, a fight was started, court records stated.

O'Day, who was a member of the wrestling team, was trying to help a friend when he was stabbed, according to Romulus police reports.

Johnson, who was convicted of manslaughter in this case, recently was released from prison after a mistrial was ruled in his case.

Instead, he will serve a three-year probation, and the incident will then be wiped from his criminal record when his probation is completed.

The O'Days based their civil suit on three factors, Googasian said.

First, the back doors to the high school were not locked, he

Group launches safety campaign for holidays

By PAMELA LANDIS
ANP News Editor

The only thing members of Mothers Against Drunk Driving want people to tie on this holiday season is a red ribbon.

Members of the group are staging events throughout Michigan and Western Wayne County to draw attention to the hazards of combining alcohol drinking and driving.

The red-ribbon campaign encourages people to tie red ribbons to motor vehicle antennas, rear view mirrors or door handles as symbolic and visual reminders to drive sober, according to Carol Nalepka, administrative assistant for the Wayne County MADD chapter.

Local groups are participating in the campaign. Members of Students Against Driving Drunk at John Glenn High School, Westland, recently put red ribbons on automobiles parked in the high school parking lot.

Terry Roberts, outreach coordinator at the YWCA Child and Family Neighborhood Program, Westland, said children and parents there also will have a red-ribbon program.

"We're hoping that maybe some of the kids will be able to coerce their parents into participating," Roberts said.

Parents and children will tie ribbons on a Christmas tree, she said.

The program is scheduled for 10 a.m. Dec. 5 at the Dorsey Community Center.

"We want as many people to participate as can," Robert said.

"The red-ribbon campaign has increased public awareness," said Col. R.T. Davis, director of the Michigan State Police. "One only has to look at the office, family and other holiday get-togethers to see that drinking, then driving, is no longer accepted as part of the holiday season."

Nalepka said a candlelight vigil will be staged at 7 p.m. Dec. 11 at Old Mariners Church in Detroit.

"Each year, we have this vigil so we can remember the people who died from drunk driving," she said.

Sheriff defends use of drug check lanes

By TOM MOORADIAN

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano Monday told Inkster officials city there is legal precedent for the county to set up check lanes, and the county will be able to defend its actions in the courts.

our sheriff 100 percent," Johnson said. "I have talked to our citizens and they support these programs."

Ficano was invited by the Inkster City Council to present an update on a lawsuit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union, challenging the check lanes.

Ficano also revealed the legal challenge to the federal aspects of the case has been withdrawn by the ACLU, "thereby, tossing this case back to the circuit court."

STRESS, an acronym for Stop the Robberies, Enjoy Safe Streets was a short-lived police operation in Detroit which was shelved by the then newly-elected mayor of Detroit, Coleman Young.

The check lanes, organized in September by county sheriffs with the cooperation of Inkster police, has been challenged in the federal courts by the ACLU. The purpose of the lanes were to deter illegal drug purchase in a high drug-trafficking area, according to Ficano.

Circuit Judge James Rashid has been assigned to the case, but no date has been set by the court to hear arguments although depositions are being taken, according to Ficano.

City councilmember Willie Johnson immediately defended Ficano and the check lanes.

"I believe the majority of the citizens of Inkster stand behind

However, the ACLU contends the check lanes violate the Fourth and 14th Amendments of the U. S. Constitution, specifically search and seizure rights.

Working with local police, sheriff deputies established check lanes on Spruce Street in the southeast section of the city and stopped 76 motorists. The officers issued 44 tickets for a variety of offenses, including driving without a valid license or car registration and failing to use a child safety belt. There were no drug-related arrests, according to police records.

The ACLU lawsuit, filed on behalf of Edward Bivens Jr., a former mayor of Inkster, and state Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) contends the check lanes also violate the state constitution.

Weapon purchase is approved

The purchase of $29,967 worth of nine-millimeter semi-automatic pistols and equipment for the Romulus Police Department was approved Monday night by city council.

Councilmembers approved the department switch from service revolvers to semi-automatic weapons last September.

A bid from C.M.P. Distributors was the lowest of three submitted to the city. The purchase will be financed by a narcotics enforcement fund.

Railroad overpass request is denied

State officials have denied a recent request for railroad overpasses for Romulus.

The request was made last August by Mayor Beverly McAnally and the plant manager and union shop chairman of the local General Motors Corp. plant. Overpasses are needed, the group said, to reduce traffic congestion created by the often blocked crossings.

Funds are not available for such a large project, according to Al Chritz, railroad program engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation.

In a letter to the mayor, Chritz said he has reviewed some of the Romulus crossings with Romulus Department of Public Works Director James Panos.

"It may be possible to reduce traffic congestion by upgrading the railroads flashing light signals in and around the city of Romulus," Chritz wrote.

Existing signals do not operate based on the speed of oncoming trains and can create unnecessary delays, he said.

Chritz suggested meeting with representatives from CSX Transportation, the company utilizing the tracks, to arrange some improvements.

Local break-in is reported

Approximately $2,000 worth of tools were taken Nov. 27 from a residential garage on the 29000 block of Ecorse Road.

The culprit entered the garage by kicking in the door, Romulus police officials said.

Among the items taken were hand tools, a drill, a grinder, a paint gun and a propane heater.

Christmas meal is planned

A special Christmas dinner for the needy will be offered from noon until 2 p.m. Dec. 20 at the Wayne Metro Services soup kitchen on Beverly Road.

For more information, call 728-7510.

Santa's mailbox is offered

A special mailbox was placed in front of the Romulus Public Library last week for local children who want to send Santa Claus their wish lists.

Santa will probably write back to these children with help from the Romulus Civic League. The mailbox is a holiday tradition for the local group.

Children who do use the box are reminded to place their return addresses on their letters to makes Santa's work a little easier.

Correction

A Nov. 30 article about the death of a paraplegic man who died of exposure outside a local nursing home gave incorrect information on how long the man was outside. He was outdoors approximately 14 hours.

Holiday feast planned for the needy

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Rev. Richard Madison and John Drouillard are planning the birthday party of the season and 1,000 people are expected to attend.

They'll serve turkey, ham, cake, pies, salad, cider and egg nog. Then the children at the party will be given toys.

The guest list—anyone who wants to come.

Madison and Drouillard are among the organizers of the Second Annual Feed the People Birthday Celebration, a Christmas feast for the needy.

There's more ways to be needy than just needing food.

John Drouillard
Organizer

Members of the Pilgrim Guide Missionary Baptist Church will host the event from noon until 4 p.m. Christmas Day at Wayne Metropolitan Services headquarters on Beverly Road. Wayne Metro officials donated use of their soup kitchen.

This special celebration was initiated a year ago by Madison, pastor of Pilgrim Guide, and his family. This time, they plan to bring in groups from low-income housing projects and senior citizen complexes.

Daily Bread Ministries, a non-profit organization directed by Drouillard, will again provide food for the celebration and approximately 500 toys.

Daily Bread supplies free food and other services to needy people throughout the Wayne County area.

The event is meant to supply more than food, it is a source of warmth and friendship, Drouillard said.

"There's more ways to be needy than just needing food," he said.

Drouillard said most people like the idea of feeding and clothing the hungry during the holiday season. The Bible, he said, also instructs people to give the poor and hungry rest.

"You really give them rest when you share your love with them," he said.

That philosophy made the 1988 feast a success, Drouillard said.

"People could come with dignity and eat. It was a party for everyone.

"We just want the people to come and be our guests. That's what it's all about," Madison said.

Madison will begin the meal with a special blessing.

For more information about the celebration, call Madison at 595-1934.

Area residents joined the Romulus and New Boston Rotary clubs last Friday to stage a special fundraiser for paraplegic Judy Bonk (above). The Downriver Fellowship of Lutheran Brotherhood agreed to match the Car, train crash leaves 1 dead

One person was killed and two were injured last Thursday night when a car was struck by a train in Taylor.

The car was driven by a 16-year-old Romulus boy who received his driver's license 25 days before the accident, according to Romulus police officials.

The car was traveling south on Inkster Road between Wick and Ecorse roads when it was struck by the train and dragged approximately 400 feet down the track.

Taylor fire officials had to remove the roof of the car to extract the young driver and two adult passengers.

One of the men, an 18-year-old Romulus resident, died shortly after arriving at the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

The other passenger, also from Romulus, and the teen were transported to Heritage Hospital in Taylor for treatment. Both were seriously injured, Taylor police officials said.

When the car approached the tracks, warning lights were blinking and the barrier was down, police said.

The driver later told police he did not see a train coming when he attempted to drive around the barrier.

The case is under investigation by the Taylor youth officer.

Despite attempts to provide an option for the building, school officials continue to accept bids for demolition, according to Assistant Superintendent Joel Carr.

Meanwhile, city officials last week agreed to research a proposal to convert the old building into a recreation center. When enough information about recreation programs and repair costs is available, the issue may go before the voters.

Drug prevention week is announced

A group of local students presented a drug prevention resolution to city council Monday night.

Already approved by the local school board, the resolution declares Dec. 3 through 9 as "Communities and Schools Fight Back Against Drugs Week."

Councilmembers approved the resolution unanimously.

Designed to promote community awareness, the special week will kick off the Build a Bridge to the Future program, according to coordinator Sandra Langley.

The program will enlist the efforts of the entire community for a year of educational activities. They will inform residents of the educational and counseling services available in Romulus, Langley said.

Participating in the presentation to city council were students from each of the public schools in Romulus and members of the Romulus Senior High School marching band.

The resolution presented by the students asks city officials to encourage city groups and businesses to participate in special activities in the next week to draw attention to the drug prevention campaign.

"Throughout the year, you're going to see a lot of us," Langley said.

Sentencing is near for former mayoral candidate

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Former mayoral candidate Earl Champagne pleaded guilty Nov. 30 to impaired driving, his second offense.

Sentencing is tentatively scheduled for 8:30 a.m. today at the 34th District Court.

He faces up to one year in prison, a $1,000 fine, 12 days of community service and a revoked license for 16 to 18 months.

Champagne was arrested July 13 by Wayne County Sheriff's deputies and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. When he was arraigned in the 34th District Court Aug. 24, he pleaded not guilty.

Shortly after Champagne announced last summer his plans to run for mayor, the charges became publicized. Champagne's failure to find a lawyer and a crowded court calendar delayed the trial past the Nov. 7 election.

At the election polls last month, Mayor Beverly McAnally defeated Champagne by a wide margin.

In a written request, the high school principal asked the district superintendent for some form of monitor for the open back doors, Googasian added. The request was denied.

Finally, the lawyer said two Romulus students discussed the possibility of a fight during lunch on the day of the stabbing. A cafeteria attendant reportedly overheard the conversation and informed an assistant principal.

The assistant principal did not warn the principal or any of the school hall monitors, Googasian said.

Today, the O'Days live in Nevada. They were unavailable for comment at the time of publication and are still trying to recover from the death of their son, Googasian said.

"They're having a very difficult time with this. The whole thing has been very disturbing for them."

Flying high
8th-grader earns Eagle scout status

By FLORENCE MECKS
ANP Staff Writer

Most boy scouts who earn the status of eagle - the highest level in scouting - are 16 or 17 years old. At age 13, Bracken Spencer has nearly achieved that level. An eighth-grader at Romulus Junior High School, Spencer became involved in scouting five years ago through the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day-Saints in Riverview. To become an eagle, scouts must plan and direct a community service project. Spencer is publicizing newly available library cards at Romulus Public Library. "I'm going to all of the elementary schools and telling all of the classes about it," Spencer said. Actually, Spencer's project is a bit more involved. To do his presentations he had to obtain permission from the Romulus board of education, the superintendent and each of the elementary school principals. He advertised the library card campaign with posters his troop designed. At the elementary schools, Spencer passed out applications for the cards. Finally, Spencer spent three days at the library helping people sign up for cards. He enlisted the help of his troop for this phase of the project. For Spencer, the library was an ideal spot for his eagle project. His mom, Karen, says he is one of the last book worms in an age of video games and VCRs. "Instead of taking away television, we take away the flashlight and book," she said. When Karen heard last October the library was beginning a card program she worked with her son to plan an eagle project. Already, Spencer has filled the other requirements for eagle status. He has earned 22 merit badges - 21 are required - advanced through six levels of scouting and served in a leadership position as patrol leaders. Spencer's ultimate goal in scouting - he wants to earn each of the 180 boy scout merit badges. He plans to have five or six more under his belt in the next few months. Scout badges range from American business and compu-

Accidents cost $1.7 billion

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

Traffic crashes cost more than $1.7 billion each year in southeast Michigan, a new study shows.

The study of trends, conducted by the transportation department of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, indicates that costs of crashes include property damage, medical and legal fees, funeral and other costs.

"As part of our ongoing work coordinated with the Michigan State Police office of highway safety planning, we continuously look at the trend in traffic crashes," said Carmine Palombo, transportation programs manager for SEMCOG.

"It builds on work we began in 1985 when we began tracking traffic trends."

The region covered by SEMCOG includes Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, St. Clair, Livingston and Monroe counties.

According to the report, drivers are most likely to be involved in a crash when on the road between midnight and 3 a.m.

Ravi Goli, one of two transportation department staff members who compiled the report, said it showed more is at work in causing accidents than the amount of traffic.

"That's the reason that you look at other factors, like alcohol," Goli said.

While non-drinking drivers are four times more likely to be involved in a crash between midnight and 3 a.m. as between 6 and 9 a.m., the same driver is 70 times more likely to be involved in a crash when alcohol is involved.

Goli said the facts in the study are intended to be used by local governments, who may want to combine them with numbers they have compiled in their own studies.

Other conclusions drawn by the study include:

- In the past seven years, traffic crashes in the region have increased 28 percent, but fatal crashes have decreased 20 percent.
- Driving on limited access freeways is five times safer than driving on non-freeways.

Annapolis 'ties one on'

Annapolis Hospital, in Wayne, will support the "Tie One On For Safety" campaign organized by Mothers Against Drunk Driving. The hospital will help to distribute red ribbons which concerned citizens can tie on their automobile as a reminder to themselves and others not to drink and drive.

The ribbons are available in the hospital gift shop and in the emergency room through January 1.

Parking plan is announced

A holiday parking plan has been announced by County Executive Edward McNamara for Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The plan is designed to ease traffic backups during peak travel times.

According to McNamara, 1,300 parking spaces in the main parking structure have been returned to service for the holidays. The parking spaces had been unavailable as a result of construction.

Valet parking will be offered for the first time, making available 250 additional parking places.

A parking hotline has been activated for travelers to call for current parking information. That number is 942-3838.

2-year-olds file taxes

New guidelines for federal income tax will require that taxpayers who claim dependents age 2 and older will be required to provide a social security number for that dependent.

To be issued a social security number and card, a dependent must have proof of age, U.S. citizenship or legal alien status and identity.

A birth certificate is usually sufficient.

For more information, contact the Social Security Administration.

Budget adopted for Wayne County

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara has agreed to approve a 1990 county budget, which was passed Thursday by the county board of commissioners.

The budget calls for expenditures and revenues of approximately $1.403 billion.

McNamara had vetoed two previous budgets, both of which totalled $1.3 billion. Lester Robinson of McNamara's office said the new budget is not a large as it appears because it involves the transfer of funds rather than new revenues.

"Once you add up all our funds, there are things called interfund transfers," Robinson said. "You're counting things that were not there before."

According to Robinson, certain county expenditures and services are often not included as part of the regular budget. This year they have been listed in the budget and have caused the expenditure total to appear larger than previous budgets, he said.

General fund expenditures in the budget will total $273 million. The general fund total in the first vetoed budget was $274 million.

McNamara's two previous vetoes set off a series of harsh words between him and commission chairman Arthur Blackwell. McNamara accused commissioners of making fanciful revenue projects.

Blackwell said McNamara was improperly using his authority at the expense of the commission's discretion.

Deputy county executive Michael Duggan said last week that McNamara will allow the latest budget to become law because it is the first budget the commission has proposed he believes is balanced.

McNamara vowed Nov. 9 to continue enacting vetoes until he received one he believed the county could live within.

Projects to be funded in the budget include continued construction of a new county jail, the hiring of new assistant county prosecutors and a program from the sheriff's department to help reduce adolescent drug use and sales.

CRUISIN' DOWN THE RIVER

Next time you're in New Orleans, see America from the decks of a luxurious paddle-wheeler. Aboard the new Mississippi Queen or the legendary Delta Queen you'll be carried gently back in time.

The Delta Queen is an authentic, restored masterpiece. Enjoy the atmosphere of a riverboat saloon or join in a sing-along. As you sit on the deck sipping your morning coffee enjoy the ever-changing views past plantations, mansions, magnolia trees and historic ports. In the evening there's ballroom dancing or a lively cabaret show.

The Mississippi Queen, the largest and most lavish paddle-wheeler afloat is a more modern version of the old steamboats. Dance to the Big Bands, relax in the lounge while listening to some great Dixieland Jazz, play a calliope, attend a Mardi Gras party. When you hear those strumming banjos, the honky-tonk pianos and the ragtime music, you'll clap your hands and tap your toes!

Go ashore at several river towns and savor the spirit of bygone days on Old Man River. When you hear the bell clang, the whistle blow and the calliope play, you'll know you're off on a magical journey!

The new 1990 brochures are now available and NOW is the time to plan your river cruise for the coming year.

Welcome to Tasty Town

Westland resident Chris Kocsis sprinkles almonds through the village.

Chef Mary Brady puts finishing touches on gingerbread house.

Kathleen Stewart (left) puts frosting around the edges of an ice rink which is part of the village. Pam Knause (right) applies a thick coating of frosting beneath a tree so it will stand firmly in the village.

Local students at Schoolcraft College were the visionaries behind the gingerbread village at the Festival of Trees staged recently in Detroit.

Various culinary arts students designed the individual cottages, churches and stores which made up the village. The Schoolcraft students then made the village come to life adding sugar snow, streets, and other extras.

The result was a magical place which stirred the imaginary of visitors. The entire scene was constructed of edible treats.

The village was on display as part of the festival which benefited Children's Hospital.

Food

This one is for my friend Bill

Drum roll please...this is quite an announcement. Bill Garrett is a reader of this column. That takes the total right up there to one. Furthermore, he said he likes it. Well, maybe he didn't exactly say he likes it, but he smiled and said he reads it. That is certainly worth noting.

Through the years, Bill has saved my bacon more than once when it has been necessary to send a courier across the street to his Michigan Avenue glass emporium to find glass for the process camera so that there would be photos in the paper or a piece cut to fit one of the production room light tables so that we could have a paper the next day. There seems to be an unwritten law that these things only break on deadline day, and when they are most crucial to the survival of the business.

Bill has always pulled through. He has cut glass to fit a camera made in Germany that only takes glass imported from there. It was Bill who, with his usual twinkle, explained that the $75 fee the manufacturer was charging us was about $56 more than his fee. And, he noted, somewhat gleefully I think, he is right across the street rather than an ocean away. You get the idea.

Bill has confided that he is a chocoholic (see why I like him?) and is looking for great, chocolatey, EASY recipes to satisfy both the constraints on his time, and the addition of his taste buds. And, because he admitted to being a reader of this column in a public place and in front of several people, finding him a recipe or two seemed like the appropriate thing to do.

Hey, I'm no dummy. Glass breaks, often.

These are for you, Bill, and no, I'm definitely not going to make them for you and bring them over. For that, the price of the glass has to be negotiable.

Enjoy.

Baked fudge

- 1/2 cup butter
- 3 squares (3 ounces) baking chocolate
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2/3 cup pecans or walnuts, finely chopped

Melt butter and chocolate in the top of a double boiler over hot water. Remove from heat and add sugar and unbeaten eggs. Beat until well blended. Add the other ingredients and pour into a greased and floured square cake pan to the depth of 1/2 inch. Bake in a 325-degree oven until firm as a custard, 45 to 50 minutes. It firms when refrigerated several hours. Chill and cut into squares.

Easy chocolate fudge cake

(Easiest recipe I know, mix it right in the pan, Bill)

- 1/3 cup butter, melted and cooled
- 2 ounces pre-melted unsweetened chocolate
- 1 egg
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 1/4 cups instant flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup semisweet chocolate pieces
- 1/2 cup walnuts or pecan halves

Eat, drink and be merry

Westland woman prepares holiday drinks with a zip

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Every Christmas Sue Yerger brings out the good crystal and pours a traditional family recipe for a toast.

The drink mix is simple and slightly tangy—crushed ice, grapefruit juice and sprite. It does not contain one drop of alcohol.

"That's traditional for us," Yerger said.

The Westland woman is quite practiced in the art of preparing nonalcoholic beverages.

She recently competed for the third year in the Zero Proof Mix Off sponsored by AAA Michigan.

Contest organizers hope to prevent holiday drinking and driving by collecting alcohol-free recipes for party hosts.

For the Nutcracker Ballet theme, Yerger created the Pink Clara. (Clara is the heroine in the ballet). The recipe evolved from a dump punch (a bottle of this, a pitcher of that) she has used for baby showers.

"It's a hit or miss, usually. It took a little while (to develop a more specific recipe)."

Ultimately, Yerger presented contest judges with a mixture of fresh lemon juice, strawberry ice cream, milk and ginger ale.

The recipe will appear in the AAA Great Pretenders' Party Guide coming out this month.

"Most people have things in their kitchen they can use for nonalcoholic drinks," Yerger said.

Yogurt, for example, lends itself well to creamy blender drinks.

Another possibility—heat some apple cider and add ginger ale.

For a special touch, Yerger suggested garnishes—peppermint sticks, fresh mint, maraschino cherries, paper parasols or cinnamon sticks.

"If you want to get fancy, try nonalcoholic grape juice...it comes in a bottle and has a cork...You can pour it in goblets or fancy glasses. It looks festive."

For best results, Yerger advises making drinks individually instead in a large batch. Punch bowl drinks quickly lose their fizz.

Yerger often frosts her glasses in the refrigerator before serving. Do not use the freezer, she warned, delicate glassware may crack or shatter.

"When I was a girl growing up there was a place where the teens went where they had frosted mugs of root beer," Yerger recalled.

Somehow, the frost made the drinks more appealing, she said.

A final selling point from Yerger—"None of these drinks give you a headache."

Pink clara

- 6 ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
- 3 cups strawberry ice cream, soft
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 3 cups ginger ale, cold
- Fresh mint, whole fresh strawberries
- peppermint sticks (optional)

In blender mix lemonade, ice cream and milk. Blend in short bursts. Pour in ginger ale. Blend. Pour mixture into glasses. Top with choice of mint, strawberry or peppermint sticks.

For an extra cool drink, leave ginger ale in the freezer up to 45 minutes, long enough to become "slushy, before preparing drink."

The ice cream should be left out of the refrigerator one half to one hour before preparation.

Mock champagne punch

- 2 quarts ginger ale
- 1 quart apple juice

Chill ingredients in refrigerator the day before opening. Mold ice ring with slices of lemon, limes and mint. Combine ginger ale and apple juice and center mold in punch bowl. Serves 30 people.

Hot mulled cider

- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 quarts apple cider
- 1 teaspoon whole allspice
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 3 inch cinnamon stick
- Dash of nutmeg
- A cinnamon stick for each mug
- An orange slice for each mug (optional)

Combine brown sugar, salt, allspice, cloves, cinnamon stick and nutmeg and bring to boil. Simmer for 20 minutes. Remove the spices. Serve in mugs with cinnamon sticks and with orange-slice floaters if desired.

On-the-wagon punch

- 3 6-ounce cans frozen Hawaiian punch, defrosted
- 3 cups cold water
- 1 24-ounce can powdered lemonade mix
- 5 quarts soda water, chilled
- 2 quarts ginger ale, chilled
- 1 quart raspberry sherbet

In a large punch bowl mix frozen punch, water, lemonade mix, soda water and ginger ale. Mix well. Add the sherbet.

Eggnog

- 12 eggs, separated
- 2 1/4 cups sugar
- 4 cups milk
- 4 cups heavy cream
- whipped
- Freshly grated nutmeg

Beat the egg yolks well, add the sugar and continue beating until smooth and yellow-colored. Slowly stir in the milk. Fold in the whipped cream. Whip the egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into the nog mixture. Transfer to a punch bowl and sprinkle with nutmeg.

Viennese chocolate

- 4 ounces semisweet chocolate
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/3 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/3 cups boiling water
- 4 cups scalded milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Melt the chocolate in the top of a double boiler over hot water. Stir in the sugar and salt and slowly add the boiling water, blending well. Add the scalded milk. Simmer the mixture for a few minutes and then beat with a whisk until frothy. Add the vanilla. Serve the chocolate from a heated coffee pot. Pass the whipped cream separately.

Russian tea

- 2 tablespoons orange pekoe or Darjeeling tea leaves
- 2 sticks cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon whole allspice
- 1/8 teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly grated orange or lemon rind
- 1 gallon boiling water
- 1 1/2 to 2 cups sugar
- Juice of 4 oranges
- Juice of 3 lemons

Place the tea leaves, cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg and rind in a cheesecloth bag. Drop into the boiling water, add the sugar, and boil for 10 minutes. Remove the bag and add the orange and lemon juices. Adjust for sweetness and serve hot.

Perkie cranberry punch

- 2 quarts cranberry juice
- 2 quarts unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1 quart water
- 2 lemons, quartered and seeded
- 2/3 cup brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon whole cloves
- 1 tablespoon whole allspice
- 4 cinnamon sticks

Combine liquids and lemons in the bottom of 30-cup electric percolator. Place remaining ingredients in basket of percolator. Perk 30 minutes. Serves 25.

Sue Yerger of Westland is a believer of preparing festive holiday drinks without alcohol. Her recipes have earned her a spot in the Michigan Automobile Association of America Great Pretenders' Party Guide. Yerger's finished product is festive and tasty. PEOPLE

JUST MARRIED

Karolyi - Seay

Patricia Karolyi and Robert Seay were united in marriage during an afternoon ceremony July 15 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Karolyi of Belleville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moas Seay of Belleville.

The Rev. Thomas Cusick officiated the ceremony which was attended by 200 guests.

The altar was decorated with white gladiolus, green carnations and baby's breath. Providing musical accompaniment were Patrick O'Donnell and Patricia LaCrosse.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length Victorian gown with contemporary details of hanging pearls and sequins. The gown featured leg-o-mutton sleeves and basque waistline. Embroidered schiffli lace accented the hemline and outlined the insets of lattice work pearls on a field of point de esprit. Her headpiece was a crescent wreath of floral buds and looped pearls with filament-edged pouff and veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of white daisies, carnations, roses and baby's breath.

Serving as maid of honor was April Lappo, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Jill Karolyi and Susan Karolyi, sisters of the bride; Kim Seay and Kirsten Seay, sisters of the groom; and Cheryl Luebke and Sara Little, friends of the bride.

They each wore teal satin jacquard tea-length gowns

Patricia and Robert Seay

with fitted bodice and a basque waist.

Crystal Donaldson, niece of the groom, was flowergirl.

Standing up as best man was the groom's friend James Budd. Ushers were James Karolyi, brother of the bride; James Brassington, Ron Shubert and Glen Arquette, friends of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece lace peach dress with beaded neckline, puffed sleeves and handkerchief hemline.

The mother of the groom wore a blue flowing chiffon gown with empire waist.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Mayflower Inn, in Plymouth.

The couple honeymooned on a Caribbean cruise.

The bride will graduate next month from the University of Michigan. The groom is a May 1989 graduate of the University of Michigan.

Greenan - Bennett

Debra D. Greenan and Kevin L. Bennett were united in marriage during a Sept. 9 wedding ceremony in Bermuda.

The bride, a resident of Westland, is the daughter of Sharon and Thomas Greenan of Romulus. The groom is the son of Gary and Joanne Bennett of West Bloomfield.

The wedding ceremony took place near Mermaid Beach overlooking the Atlantic Ocean and the island of Bermuda. The Rev. Hegerman officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a sweetheart neckline and floor-length sweep train. She wore a headpiece accented with a band of pearls.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom dined at a local restaurant and explored the island on a motor scooter.

The couple stayed on the south shore of Bermuda for their honeymoon.

The bride is a graduate of

Greenan - Bennett

the University of Maryland. She is currently attending the University of Michigan at Dearborn. She is employed at Zampas, Paskin and Nagi in Detroit.

The groom is a graduate of Wayne State School of Law. He is currently employed at Brunkin and Jackson law firm in Plymouth.

Family fare

Downtown Wayne eatery built on strong foundation

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Looks can be deceiving. A quick glance at Omega Family Restaurant along the Michigan Avenue strip in downtown Wayne suggests a small coffee shop.

Inside, however, is a huge restaurant complete with a banquet room, picture windows, a high ceiling and a salad bar.

"It's a nice restaurant for family to go to or to meet friends," said manager Naser Gocaj, manager. "It's got nice atmosphere and especially reasonable prices. It does have liquor, too."

Omega is a family restaurant in the truest sense. Mike and Mona Gocaj, Naser's parents, started the business approximately 11 years ago on the corner of westbound Michigan Avenue and Elizabeth.

With a fairly new restaurant located on Michigan east of Wayne, the Gocajs enlisted the help of sons Skender, 18, and Shkelzen, 12, along with their daughter, Shkendiya, 14.

Proudly, Gocaj pointed out construction of the new restaurant was also a family effort. The ceiling is made of solid oak except for a section of stained glass taken from the Book Cadillac Hotel of Detroit. One room, a solarium, is surrounded by glass walls.

Omega contains all-booth seating separated by brass bars, Gocaj added.

"We built it ourselves. It took us three years," he said.

In addition to atmosphere, Gocaj boasted of the low prices at Omega.

"You tell me where else you can get lunch and salad bar for $3.95," he said.

In addition to the traditional soups, salads and sandwiches on the regular menu, customers can choose from linguine primavera, chicken alfredo and lasagna.

On the appetizer list are steak on a stick, barbecued ribs, saganaki cheese and nachos.

For the ultimate in temptation, black forest cheesecake is among the dessert selections.

2 coaches make cage debuts

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although the names are familiar to local sports fans, two noted coaches will be playing different roles as the 1989-90 high school basketball season gets under way.

The coaches - Ron Tarrant, formerly of Willow Run High fame - and Chris Molloy, an ex-Eastern Michigan University assistant coach - will be mapping out strategy for local teams.

Tarrant is the new head coach at Robichaud High in the Westwood School District, while Molloy takes over at Romulus High.

Molloy received his first test as the Eagles' coach Tuesday night when Belleville and Coach Mike Garland, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference tri-champs, invaded Romulus High.

Tarrant and the Robichaud Bulldogs also saw action Tuesday night. They also opened on the home court, clashing with South Central Conference power, Ann Arbor Huron.

Tarrant is coming off of a 11-year stint with the Flyers of Willow Run. During his coaching tenure, the veteran coach managed to win a coveted Class B state title (1980) and a handful of district and regional championships.

Since Willow Run is affiliated with the Suburban Athletic Conference, the new Robichaud coach is familiar with the caliber of competition in the SAC.

"It's just one tough league," Tarrant said. "The caliber of players and coaches are among the best."

Molloy, a native of Connecticut who prepped at Bloomfield Hills Andover, spent his last five seasons as an assistant at EMU. He also has coached at Siena Heights College.

"I am looking forward to this new challenge," Molloy said. "We have a lot of hard work ahead of us to get ready for this league."

Romulus will have the likes of Ann Arbor Huron, Pioneer, Ypsilanti and Adrian twice during the course of the South Central Conference year.

Ron Tarrant

Chris Molloy

Parkers picked to repeat

If Inkster or Robichaud covet the 1989-90 Suburban Athletic Conference cage crown, they will have to find a way to swipe it off of Highland Park's head.

The Polar Bears, returning most of the players who dominated the SAC a year ago, have the power for another explosive year. That's the consensus of most of the coaches in the conference.

"They are not only the only Class A school in our league and, therefore, have more athletes to select from," pointed out Inkster coach George Thompson, "but if you look back over the past two decades Highland Park always appears to be able to put a team on the court that competes for state honors."

"From what I hear, that's not going to change, at least not this year," Thompson said.

Ron Tarrant, the newly-appointed Robichaud coach, agreed.

"Highland Park is always right up there," Tarrant said. "You can never overlook them when you are talking about title contenders. If you beat them, you have a shot at the SAC."

Although they will be playing in the shadows of pre-season title favorite and defending champ, Highland Park, the graduation-riddled Robichaud cage lineup is expected to give any title pretender a battle to the finish this year. The Bulldogs have a veteran coach in newly-hired Ron Tarrant, who guided the Willow Run Flyers to a Class B state championship in 1980. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Tarrant has one holdover from last year's squad. He's 6-2 Tyrone Wheatley, a multi-talented junior who is coming off of a successful football campaign. However, it may take Wheatley and some of his teammates time to get back into shape for basketball. The timing and the coordination are not there, according to the new coach.

"We have a few candidates (for starting positions) who played football and, obviously, it will take time to get them ready."

Wheatley will team up with a pair of 6-4 juniors - Robert McClain and Ernie Baskin - to form the front line, while Tarrant is looking at William Fleming, a 5-9 junior, Lee Williams, (6-0), Andy Parham (5-9) and Jason Hillman (5-10) as the prospective starters at guard.

Tarrant doesn't have any "pure starters" from last year's lineup.

And, in a league where you must also face teams like Inkster, River Rouge, Ecorse, Oak Park, and, of course, Willow Run, that could make for a very long year for the first-year coach and the Bulldogs.

Romulus rebuilds with senior guard

Virgil Davis, an All-Area pick in 1988-89, is the guard that first-year Romulus basketball coach Chris Molloy will build upon.

Molloy replaces Dan Henry, who resigned after the 1988-89 season. From last year's team, Molloy has inherited only one starter.

That's Davis, a speedy, deceptive 5-9 senior playmaker, who led the Eagles to a Class A district championship after a frustrating season in the South Central Conference a year ago.

Romulus launched the 1989-90 campaign Tuesday night on the home court, hosting Belleville. The Eagles are not scheduled to play again until Tuesday when they are also at home to another non-conference rival, Marine City.

"We have good quickness on this team and decent athletic ability. And if we can establish better work ethics, I feel we will do all-right."

— Chris Molloy
Romulus coach

The new coach has several good-looking prospective starters who may help end the Eagles' SCC title drought. Since joining the league three years ago, Romulus has been a .500 team in the SCC.

Molloy hopes to turn that around with new work ethics and stressing defense. There are at least three notable seniors - Kevin Brown (6-2), Larry Perkins (6-1) and Chris Jones (6-1) who are gunning for starting job, while Abdul Hamilton (6-2) and Torrey Mills (5-11) - two juniors - also are showing signs that they have the ability to get the job done.

Mills is the younger brother, sans height, of Terry Mills, the former Romulus High all-stater who led the Eagles to their only Class A state basketball championship. Mills (6-10) last year also helped the University of Michigan Wolverines capture the NCAA national title.

"We have good quickness on this team," Molloy said, "and decent athletic ability. And if we can establish better work ethics, I feel we will do all-right."

Vikings open on the road

Thompson begins his 20th year as coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

George Thompson, Jr., the dean of the area high school basketball coaches, will pack up his Vikings of Inkster, board a bus and head for Ypsilanti High Friday night.

Ypsi, one of the South Central Conference powers, is Inkster's first test for the 1989-90 basketball season.

"Ypsi always has outstanding talent," said Thompson, who begins his 20th year as Inkster's coach. "It will be a good test for us."

Thompson's Vikings are coming off of a 13-7 year, finishing in the middle of the Suburban Athletic Conference pack. After reviewing some of the cage previews, the veteran coach believes "that if we can finish in the first division, we're going to be lucky, especially with a schedule like ours."

Thompson also believes that Highland Park, defending SAC champ, again will be the team to beat in the league. However, he warns that Robichaud, despite the loss of four starters, and Willow Run, will be in the hunt.

"I really can't say. On paper, we look good. But these kids haven't clocked in a lot of actual playing time, and until they're tested, you can't tell what they will do."

However, the Vikings do have a pair of potentially all-SAC eagers in Tyron Orr, a 6-3 senior who has looked good at the wing guard slot, and Art Asberry, also a senior who is 6-2 but can jump as if he were five inches taller. He grabbed 10 rebounds per game and chipped in 13 points pg. a year ago.

Then, there's 6-8 senior Jamal Poplar, who has all the tools to make 1989-90 an unforgettable year for Viking fans. Time will only tell if Poplar fulfills his destiny.

Add to that list the names of Jermaine Jackson (5-7), Claude McReynolds (6-2) and Gary Pizer (6-4), and you can understand why Thompson is eager to get this season underway.

Thompson must find replacements for last year's "deadeye", Gary Johnson, a 6-2 senior who shot the seams out of the nets.

"When you lose two players who averaged about 40 points between them, you have concerns. I know there are kids on this team that can fill the void - the question is, 'how long will it take?'"

George Thompson, Jr.

Winter schedules please

With the fall high school sports season quickly fading, and the 1989-90 prep winter sports season closing in fast, the Associated Newspapers' sports staff is again urging all local high school athletic directors to send out their schedules.

If there is a new coach, athletic directors are encouraged to include the coach's home telephone number with the schedule so that the ANP sports staff may contact him.

Mail the schedules to: Associated Newspapers, C/O Sports Desk, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne, MI. 48184.

Huron has sights on Airport Flyers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Coach Larry Swick and the New Boston Huron's Chiefs will take aim Friday night at the Flyers of Airport as the two teams open the conference phase of the season.

Swick began his fifth year as the Chiefs' head coach Tuesday night when Huron opened the 1989-90 campaign on the road at Adrian, a nonconference foe.

Despite the loss to graduation of All-Area guards Mike Harrison and Mike Debozy, the Chiefs figure they will shed their door-mat image in the league.

"We're a young team with good size," Swick said. "And, although the league is tough again this year, I feel we are going to improve."

Swick's optimism stems from the return of five letterwinners: Matt Spiecker, a 6-0 senior; and three junior guards - Dave Delano (5-11), Matt Hamilton (5-11), and Ron Wowitcke (5-9). Also back is senior Greg Poet, a senior forward who contributed eight points and four rebounds per game a year ago.

In the wing are three good-looking sophomores who helped the

The ANP sports department regret the error.

Belleville places title on block at Lincoln Park

With a nonconference tuneup behind them, Coach Mike Garland and the Belleville Tigers will travel to Lincoln Park Friday night to open the 1989-90 Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball season.

The Railsplitters will have the first shot at Belleville's share of the title. The Tigers finished in a tie for first with Wayne Memorial and Monroe a year ago.

Belleville played Romulus Tuesday in their 1989 opener.

The 1989 Tigers lack height, which will take away from their inside game, according to Garland.

"But I feel that there is enough talent on this team to make us competitive," said Garland.

The Tigers lost all-state guard Maurice Brantley to graduation. Brantley helped orchestrate a 16-4 won-lost record a year ago, the Tigers' best in recent years. Also gone, via graduation, is Maurice's twin, Andre, a steady performer last year.

"But I feel that there is enough talent on this team to make us competitive."

— Mike Garland
Belleville coach

Held over from the championship team is starter Benjie Goldston, a 6-3 senior guard who will have to carry much of the backcourt load. Garland is looking at a pair of seniors - Dave Roeder and Paul Gardette - to fill in the void. There are also a couple of 6-3 juniors - Derrick Boles and Andrew Ellis - who are being groomed as potential starters.

If the Tigers survive the onus of playing five of their first games on the road, they could make another run for the title this year. But Chiefs post a 12-8 won-lost junior varsity record a year ago. They could prove to be valuable in the Chiefs' drive for respectability.

The three players - all 6-4 - are Matt Holton, Jason Hall and Bill Phipps.

Grosse Ile, the defending champ, and Monroe Catholic Central, also laden with athletic talent, are the teams who are picked to finish atop of the standings.

If Huron's sophomores mature in time, the Chiefs could be a factor to contend with in the stretch.

Hall of fame
Romulus seeks nominees for coveted honor

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

During its long and productive athletic history, Romulus High has produced some outstanding athletes, who have been recognized for their accomplishments not only in Michigan, but nationally and internationally.

To name just a few - Johnny Long, who earned all-state consideration at Romulus and went on to compete at University of Detroit and was on the roster of the Detroit Pistons, when they won the National Basketball Association's championship a year ago; Terry Mills, Long's nephew, who played on the University of Michigan's national championship basketball team.

There are many others.

Romulus school officials are seeking a niche where these stellar athletes' accomplishments will have some permanency.

"We would like to honor these athletes and create a permanent place, a Hall of Fame, for these athletes. The hall would be located at the high school," noted Fred Coleman, athletic director.

Coleman had sent his suggestion to William M. Bedell, superintendent of schools, who presented the plan to the board. The board unanimously approved the recommendation to "establish a Romulus Hall of Fame for outstanding athletes who have graduated from Romulus."

In a letter to Romulus High alumni and friends, Coleman pointed out that the formation of the Romulus Hall of Fame will take place with the induction of its first members on Jan. 26, 1990. The ceremonies will be conducted at halftime of the Romulus vs. Adrian basketball game.

"It is the hope that in years to come it will be possible to nominate and induct many of our outstanding athletes and citizens into this outstanding organization of Romulus' best," Coleman stated.

The criteria for membership in the Hall of Fame are as follows:

- The nominee must be a graduate of Romulus High School;
- The nominee must have a record of outstanding service/performance in a particular sport;
- Must have been out of school a minimum of 10 years;
- Must have received local, state and/national recognition for athletic endeavors;
- Must be an outstanding member of either the Romulus community or the community in which the candidate resides.

Nominations for the Hall of Fame should be directed to: Fred Coleman, athletic director, Romulus High School.

4 Romulus athletes star in academics

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Four Romulus High athletes were named last week to the inaugural South Central Conference 'All-Academic' Team.

Among the 18 candidates picked were Romulus High's Susan Molenda (basketball), Dennis Tessin (cross country), Chris Vavro (golf) and Eben Smith (football).

Molenda is sporting a 3.35 grade point average and is ranked 35th in the Class of 1991. She also led the Eagles in most of the statistical categories. She was voted most valuable player in basketball for the 1989 Newspapers' All-Area cage team and also earned all-conference recognition in the sport.

Molenda will be exchanging her cage uniform for one in volleyball as she joins the Eagle varsity lineup. Despite her busy schedule, Molenda also competes in softball. She was selected to the Associated Newspapers' All-Area cage team and also earned all-conference recognition in the sport.

Tessin has finished consistently in the top three runners in cross country for the past three seasons. The 16-year-old junior is ranked fourth in the Class of 1991. He has an enviable 3.83 grade point average. Dennis was the premier runner for the Eagles during the recently completed campaign.

Vavro was the key to a very successful Romulus golf team. With a 3.66 grade point average, Vavro is ranked 15th in his class. He led the Eagles to their best season since joining the SCC conference three years ago. Vavro was also selected as the Most Valuable Player as a sophomore, an honor repeated as a junior.

Vavro also earned all-league consideration in 1989.

Smith, with a 3.30 GPA, is a junior who was instrumental in the success of the Eagles' football season. He was the leading rusher and an outstanding defensive half-back. He earned honorable mention all-league and All-Area.

Romulus' Sue Molenda (above) goes up for a shot. She has proven that her grades need not suffer because she competes in three sports - basketball, volleyball, and softball. Molenda is one of four Romulus High athletes picked on the inaugural SCC All-Academic Team. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Tigers

Garland believes any title plans for his team must be sprinkled with "some luck". He sees Wayne Memorial, which returns four of its five starters, as the overwhelming favorite to win the championship.

"They (Wayne) definitely are the class of the conference this year," Garland said.

Could be. But no one is counting the Tigers out.

THERE'S HELP FOR VARICOSE VEIN SUFFERERS, WITHOUT SURGERY

By Michael R. Israel, M.D., F.A.C.S.

Venous insufficiency afflicts 40 to 50 percent of the population over 50 years of age. The most common type of venous insufficiency is varicose veins. Varicose veins occur in people who are over 40 years of age, are obese, have occupations which require standing for long periods of time, have a family history of this condition, and women who have had multiple pregnancies.

Varicose veins are caused by poor functioning of the vein valves due to severe strain. This results in an obstruction of blood flow through the veins. Symptoms are a feeling of heaviness in the legs and minor swelling.

TREATMENT OPTIONS

Treatment varies, depending on the severity of the condition. In less serious cases, the regular use of support stockings can help alleviate the problem.

In more serious cases, patients have two options: stripping and ligation, a surgical procedure; or sclerosing therapy, a non-invasive procedure.

SCHLEROSING THERAPY

In the past, surgical removal was the preferred treatment. However, physicians have turned to sclerosing therapy as the treatment of choice due to the drawbacks of surgery.

Techniques for this procedure have been greatly improved in recent years. Performed on an outpatient basis, the procedure involves injecting the branches of the Great Saphenous Vein with a sclerosing agent that causes the veins to collapse.

After the vein is collapsed, pressure is applied to the vein by means of a support stocking.

The advantages of this procedure are: no scarring, minimal amount of discomfort (only slight inflammation), the entire procedure takes just 30 to 40 minutes, and hospitalization is not required. Normal activities can be resumed within one week.

Next article: Phlebitis, a more serious form of venous insufficiency.

Author autographs books in Belleville

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

From the tale of a Chippewa Indian killed in 1567 to the story of a mass murder in Farwell in 1982, author Gary Barfknecht tells the tales of 70 slayings, which occurred in the state during its long history.

The murders, Barfknecht said, "violently shaped the dark side of Michigan history," and also became the subject of his second book, Murder Michigan.

Barfknecht, who visited Belleville Saturday to autograph books at Miss Ginger's on Main Street, found his "murder" book to be as well-received as his two best known books, Michillaneous and Michillaneous II, and his travel book, Michigan Adventure.

"People are fascinated with crimes and murders," the author said. "I didn't go about writing this as a sensational or bloody collection of stories. I looked for stories that were unusual in Michigan history - in many cases - a part of state history."

Barfknecht, a freelance writer from Davison, began his Michigan writings after an off-hand inquiry from his wife, Ann.

"One very cold winter night, my wife asked me if I knew the record cold temperature in Michigan," Barfknecht said. "I looked it up, and started my research on unusual facts about the state."

Barfknecht, a native of Northern Minnesota, believes it has been to his advantage to be a non-Michiganian by birth.

"People who live here take a lot of things about their state for granted. I started writing with no assumptions," the author said.

His first book, Michillaneous, is a collection of lists of the best/worst, biggest/smallest and most popular/unique people, places and things in Michigan.

"One of the items in the first book was the five most infamous murders in the state, and I found that the list of murders was one of those that received the most attention from readers," Barfknecht said. "In fact, people kept asking me about when I would write about another five Michigan murders. First, I was surprised by the idea, but then I thought it would be interesting to do a book - not sensational or bloody - but one that would list murders that were part of the history of Michigan. At that point, I just got swept along with the idea."

In addition to his own books Barfknecht publishes other non-fiction books with a Michigan theme. His books are available at Miss Ginger's, 369 Main Street, in downtown Belleville. Some autographed copies are available.

Goodfellows, Lions seek holiday funds

Belleville area residents who missed the volunteers collecting for the Goodfellows and selling Lions Club candy canes last weekend still have an opportunity to help their local charities.

Individuals who wish to make contributions to the Belleville Area Goodfellows may send their donations to the Goodfellows, 1136 Sumpter Road, Belleville, Mich. 48111. Funds collected will be allocated to food baskets and toys for needy Van Buren Township and Belleville families.

Donations of canned goods and staples are being conducted at local schools and at the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce office, 116 Fourth St., in downtown Belleville.

Members of the Lions Club will be selling candy canes this weekend at K-Mart, Rawsonville Road; A&P, Belleville Road; National Bank of Detroit, Main Street, and various locations in the Belleville area.

Area residents who wish to contribute to the eye-related health problem programs, which are funded through the Lions Club, may call Bob O'Keefe, 697-1962, or Chuck Watson, 699-6440.

Bridge lights sought

Could holiday lights brighten the Belleville Bridge in the future? Several area residents would like to see decorative lights on the blue bridge - for the holidays and every day.

Chesley Odom, of Chesley Odom Design, has drawn sketches of his suggestions for the four-lane bridge that is slated to replace the current 60-year-old, two-lane bridge. Odom's drawings include decorative lighting for the proposed structure.

Belleville resident Andy Winnie suggested that Belleville

"show its holiday spirit this year, and put some Christmas lights on the blue bridge."

"I am sure residents and visitors would like to be greeted by a bridge of lights during this joyous time of year. The lights may even attract spectators from miles around," Winnie said. "Sure, traffic will increase, but this gives downtown business owners a chance to attract new customers. Lighting up the blue bridge will improve the economic vitality of downtown Belleville."

School district residents comment on request for millage increase

"Money alone has never and will never buy a better education," wrote a Van Buren School District resident who voted against the Nov. 15 millage request.

The Enterprise has requested school district residents to share their comments, and express their views on what type of changes or additions to the curriculum would prompt them to change their negative vote to an affirmative one in the future.

Dissatisfaction with the school curriculum, an unwillingness by childless couples to support the system and a resistance to additional taxes were cited by residents as reason they voted against the 4-mill tax increase for Van Buren Public Schools last month.

The proposal was defeated by a 1,710-1,140 margin on Nov. 15. One week earlier, school district voters turned thumbs down to a sales tax hike to benefit fit education.

A recent letter writer, who chose to remain anonymous, wrote, "Our children are failing - see Michigan Education Assessment Program scores - because our schools are failing. The schools continue to ask for more money. Why should we, the taxpayers, pour more tax dollars down a bottomless pit?"

"Our kids need a challenge to use their brains, to work at learning, to compete (not just in sports) and to succeed," the writer continued. "I believe the Board of Education should be held directly responsible for our children's education. They are elected to office to provide the policies and curriculum which should enable our children to learn, and thus provide the graduate with the opportunity to attain meaningful employment."

"I do not believe our children of today are given this opportunity. Our children do not have the skills or the tools to compete with other nations, and yet, America spends more in education per child, and our kids are failing," the resident wrote.

"The following factors would cause me to vote in favor of a future school millage increase, and I address this to the Van Buren School District Board, administrators and teachers alike: When you give us better educated students, we will then give you what you deserve and/or need. In other words, put up or shut up," the resident wrote. "We, as parents, want better results. We, as parents, feel the time is now. We cannot wait much longer. We are raising functional illiterates, and they have been shortchanged by our educational establishment."

Residents may still express their opinions on the school millage by writing The Enterprise, P.O. Box 278, Belleville, Mich. 48111, or they may call brief answers to Diane Ferguson or Joan Dyer at 697-9191.

Local Buick dealer introduces the Isuzu line

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Automotive Writer

So you want one of those Isuzu pickups to "drive thru" your bank just like your idol Joe Isuzu?

Or maybe you saw former Detroit Tiger Pat Sheridan in a 1990 Isuzu Amigo as grand marshal of the annual Thanksgiving parade in Wayne, and thought you might look good behind the wheel of one of your own.

Whatever the reason, if you're looking for an Isuzu in Wayne County, you have to look at John Rogin Buick/Isuzu, 3939 S. Wayne Road. It is the only Isuzu dealership in the county.

"In my opinion, we needed a line like this," said Lynn Derrick, the sales manager of the Isuzu line at the dealership. "Our Buick line appeals to a mature customer, while the Isuzus are fun for the younger consumer, or a perfect second vehicle for the family."

The Isuzu line, as it exists at Rogin at this time, includes four models - the Trooper, the two- and four-wheel drive Amigo, and the pickup truck. The dealership is stocking approximately 60 Isuzu vehicles in its inventory, Derrick said. With the dealer network throughout the state, however, it is possible to locate and secure an Isuzu of any type for the customer in a short period of time, he said.

The Trooper, a versatile sport/utility truck, recently placed second in Automobile Magazine category comparison - only the megabuck Range

Our Buick line appeals to a mature customer, while the Isuzus are fun for the younger consumer, or a perfect second vehicle for the family.

— Lynn Derrick
Sales manager

Rover placed ahead of the Trooper. Isuzu offers different packages. The customer can choose between a standard five-speed or an electronically controlled four-speed automatic transmission, a four-cylinder or V-6 engine, and the standard four-door model for the family or a new sporty short wheelbase two-door.

The Amigo, the new challenger to the vehicle of choice for Yuppies - the Jeep - is part sports car, part truck. Although it's built on a shortened truck chassis, the ride quality is very good, especially for a four-wheel drive vehicle. The handling is tight, responsive and stable, like a low-slung sports car, thanks to its wide track. The Amigo is offered as a standard two-seater, but Isuzu does have a four-seat option package.

The Isuzu pickup is reasonably priced, comes in a variety of option packages and, like the others in the Isuzu line, offers its customers General Motors produced engines. In fact, GM is the largest shareholder in Isuzu with just under 40 percent of the stock.

General Motors and Isuzu have jointly developed and marketed cars since 1971, including the popular Chevy Luv truck built by Isuzu for the American carmaker. This long history of cooperation helped influence Rogin Buick to expand its offerings.

"We considered adding the Suzuki truck line, but with GM's interest in Isuzu and Isuzu's history as the oldest truck manufacturer in Japan, we were more confident in Isuzu," Derrick said. "The better off Isuzu is, the better off GM is. We felt good about that, especially in this area."

Sales of the Isuzu trucks have been good since the dealership began selling them in mid-October, and Derrick predicted the November sales objective would be attained. The dealership is offering special factory-to-dealer price incentives to customers and is giving away key tags, decorative license plates and coffee mugs to celebrate the grand opening.

Derrick said the dealership is working to renovate the selling area to accommodate the additional vehicles and customers. He said the Isuzu line will have its own showroom as soon as possible.

"We are very proud to add Isuzu to our Buick name," Derrick said. "With Buick/Isuzu we have the number-one nameplate in America."

And certainly the only one in Wayne County.

John Rogin Buick is now also home to the Isuzu car line. ANP photo by Werner Stocum/staff photographer

Wheels is introduced

This edition marks the first appearance of Wheels, a section dedicated to all those who drive a car and who are considering purchase of a new car.

Automotive writer John Agge will each week provide an interesting feature story on a local dealership, driving tips, automobile trends and car maintenance.

Wheels will also feature advertisements from local car dealerships with competitive sale prices for consumers to study.

Watch each week for the section in your Associated Newspaper.
